

The Daily Courant.

Monday, March 1. 1708.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated March 6.

Basil, February 26.

THE Meeting of the general Diet of the Cantons at Baden continues fix'd to the 11th of March; and 'tis hop'd the Affair of Neuschatel will then be accommodated to the Satisfaction of both Parties. The Canton of Bern have written Letters to all the Roman Catholick Cantons, pressing them to give their Consent to the Addition made by them to the Schedule of the Neutrality for Neuschatel, which they represent to be for the greater Security of Switzerland in general. The same Canton have also written to the Marquis de Puiseux Ambassador of France, remonstrating to him the cogent Reasons upon which they made the said Addition, and their Resolution not to desist from it; desiring him to use his good Offices to persuade the King to approve it.

Vienna, Feb. 22. Count Wratislaw has acquainted the Swedish Secretary residing here, that the Treaty of Alt-ranstad being already executed according to its verbal Tenour, the Emperour is of Opinion nothing further (with Respect to Religion in Silesia) can be requir'd of him; but that however his Imperial Majesty will take into Consideration the Intercession offer'd by his Swedish Majesty relating to some Points of no great Moment that were not included in that Treaty.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated March 6.

Breslau, Feb. 22. Here arrive from time to time Frenchmen that have serv'd under Prince Ragotski, who all agree that his Affairs are in a low Condition, and that the Hungarians being dissatisfied with his Conduct and weary of so long a War, incline to a Change. The Primate of Poland and his Brother the Vice-Chancellor, continue at Olmutz. Some Letters from Vienna inform us, that it has been signified by that Court to Baron Strahlenheim, that if he draws up any more Memorials or Writings explaining and extending the Treaty of Alt-Ranstad, he is not to expect further Answers, which would be endless; the Emperour thinking it sufficient to have satisfied that Treaty according to the Letter.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated March 6.

Frankfort, March 1. 'Tis reported, that the Elector of Hanover seeing no Likelihood of the Empire's furnishing in time the Million of Rixdollars granted by the Diet, has resolv'd to advance that Sum on security of being reimburs'd as the said Subsidy comes in, to the End he may the sooner provide all things necessary for opening the Campaign.

Letters of the 14th of February from King Stanislaus's Camp at Kamieno near Grodno, relate, That the 6th the King of Sweden advanc'd to Grodno with 600 Cuirassiers, to view the Bridge on the River Niemen; and that on his Majesty's Approach the Muscovites abandon'd the Bridge, without ruining or defending it, tho' they had rais'd some Batteries: So his Majesty pass'd the River, and entering Grodno found it abandon'd likewise. The next Morning by Day-break, a Detachment of 2000 Muscovite Horse got into the Town, and might have taken and carry'd off the King of Sweden, had they not by making too much Noise at their Entrance caus'd the Detachment with him to take the Alarm immediately; and they defending themselves 2 Hours against the unequal Number of the Muscovites, gave Time to the Regiment of Reinschild to come up to their Assistance; upon which the Muscovites retir'd. The King of Sweden staid in Grodno till the 9th, and then pursu'd his March towards the Muscovites, who retir'd to Minsk. They have abandon'd Wilna and the Places adjacent.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated March 6.

Hambourg, Feb. 28. 'Tis confirm'd, that the Courage of the Muscovites sinking on the Approach of the Swedes, they have abandon'd the strong Town of Tykoczin as well as Grodno; and that the Czar is retiring in great Confusion towards the Frontier of Muscovy, laying wast the Country as he retreats, to deprive his Enemy of Subsistence.

From the Amst. Gaz. and Leid. Cour. March 6. & 7.

Paris, March 2. The Answer of the Count de Forbin to the Memorial which the King of Denmark caus'd to be deliver'd to M. Poussin the French Minister residing at Copenhagen, contains in Substance. "That if the Dutch Vessels of which his Danish Majesty demands Restitution, had been taken under the Cannon of the Fort of Wardhuys, the Governour would not have fail'd to fire upon the French Ships. But that those Vessels were taken in an open Road at a sufficient Distance from the Fort; And that if it should be allow'd that in such Places an Enemy's Ships are protected and secure, it would be hard to take any. 'Tis talk'd the Count de Bezons will be made a Marshal of France: 'Tis also talk'd, that a Marriage is treating between the Duke of Vendome and the Princess of Engbien, Daughter of the Prince of Conde. Yesterday the Abbots Mongin and Fraguier, were receiv'd into the French Academy, in the Places vacant by the Death of the Abbot Galois, and of M. Colbert Archbishop of Rouen. 'Tis reported our Court have resolv'd to act defensively only against the Duke of Savoy, while they exert their best Efforts in Spain, either to drive King Charles out of Catalonia, or to compel the King of Portugal to accept of Peace.

From the Paris Gazette, dated March 3.

Paris, Mar. 3. Letters from Constantinople of the 14th of Dec. last, advise, that all Preparations were making there for War, the more because otherwise there was no keeping quiet the Janizaries and Spahis, who publicly threaten'd to mutiny unless it were done. The Fleet, as well as the Land-Forces were considerably augmented. The Sultan was amassing great Sums of Money, and the grand Visier had said openly, that it was to make War against the Christians; but that 'twas not discoverable what Potentate he design'd to attack. They had Advice likewise, that there were great Commotions among the Tatars of the Crimea, who had forc'd the new Kan, whom the grand Signior had sent them, to retire, and requir'd to have agen him that was depos'd, who is wholly inclin'd to War.

From the Brussels Gazette, dated March 6.

Brussels, March 6. A Post is settled from hence to Barcelona: It will go every Thursday for Milan, and thence to Genoa, whence the Mail will be sent in a Felucca to Barcelona. By this Conveyance Letters may be sent to the Court of his Catholick Majesty, and to the Troops of the Allies in Catalonia.

From the Leiden Courant, dated March 7.

Amsterdam, March 5. We have receiv'd Advices from divers Parts, that the Weather has lately been very tempestuous on the Coasts of Portugal and Spain in the Ocean. That at Lisbon several Houses Churches and Cloysters were much damag'd by the Violence of the Wind; that the Castle of Mussia belonging to the Duke of Cadaval, was most of it blown down; and that the Roads are render'd unpassable by the hard Rains. A Portuguese Ship bound bound home from the Bay of all-Saints in Brasil, was wreck'd near Viana; her Lading is valu'd at a Million of Cruſadoes. By Reason of the ſame Stormy Weather, the Barks that uſe to go from Port St. Mary to Cadix, could paſs but thrice in 14 Days, which occaſion'd a great ſcarcity of Proviſions in Cadix: They ſuffer'd like Want in Seville, hard Rains and the over-flowing of Rivers having made the Roads ſo bad, that Corn could not be brought to that City. They were under ſome Apprehenſion at Cadix for the 6 French Men of War and 3 Privateers that lately fail'd from thence for the Canaries: Becauſe an Advice-Boat that fail'd with them, and was to come back, was not return'd by the Time ſhe might reaſonably be expected.
